MURDER OF UNBORN CHILD-WILLFUL AND MALICIOUS ACT. FELONY.

The defendant has been charged with the murder of an unborn child¹ by a willful and malicious act.

For you to find the defendant guilty of this offense, the State must prove two things beyond a reasonable doubt:

First, that the defendant committed a willful and malicious act by (describe act). An act is willful when it is intentional and without justification or excuse. Malice means not only hatred, ill will, or spite, as it is ordinarily understood, but [it also means that condition of mind which prompts a person to take the life of another intentionally or to intentionally inflict serious bodily harm which proximately results in another's death, without just cause, excuse or justification] [malice also arises when an act which is inherently dangerous to human life is intentionally done so recklessly and wantonly as to manifest a mind utterly without regard for human life and social duty and deliberately bent on mischief]. You may consider this along with all other facts and circumstances in determining whether the defendant's act was unlawful and whether it was done with malice.

¹ See G.S. 14-23.7 for exceptions from prosecution for this offense.

And Second, that the defendant intentionally² caused the death of an unborn child.

If you find from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that on or about the alleged date, the defendant committed a willful and malicious act and intentionally caused the death of an unborn child (nothing else appearing)³, it would be your duty to return a verdict of guilty. If you do not so find or have a reasonable doubt as to one or more of these things, it would be your duty to return a verdict of not guilty.

² If a definition of intent is required, see N.C.P.I.—Crim. 120.10.

³ If self-defense is an issue, include the appropriate self-defense instruction in both the body of the instruction and the mandate. If self-defense is not an issue, then this parenthetical phrase would not be given.
