208.15 ASSAULT WITH A DEADLY WEAPON INFLICTING SERIOUS INJURY.
FELONY.

The defendant has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury.

For you to find the defendant guilty of this offense, the State must prove three things beyond a reasonable doubt:

First, that the defendant assaulted the victim by intentionally<sup>1</sup> (and without justification or excuse)<sup>2</sup> (describe assault).

Second, that the defendant used a deadly weapon. A deadly weapon is a weapon which is likely to cause death or serious bodily injury. [(Name object) is a deadly weapon.] [In determining whether (name object) was a deadly weapon, you should consider the nature of (name object), the manner in which it was used, and the size and strength of the defendant as compared to the victim.]<sup>3</sup>

And Third, that the defendant inflicted serious injury<sup>4</sup> upon the victim.

NOTE WELL: If self-defense is an issue, use N.C.P.I.-Crim. 308.45.

If you find from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that on or about the alleged date, the defendant intentionally (describe assault) the victim with a (name object) (and that (name object) was a deadly weapon),<sup>5</sup> thereby inflicting serious injury upon the victim (nothing else appearing)<sup>6</sup> it would be your duty to return a verdict of guilty. If you do not so find or have a reasonable doubt as to one or more of these things, it would be your duty to return a verdict of not guilty.<sup>7</sup>

NOTE WELL: If self-defense is an issue, continue with mandate from N.C.P.I.-Crim. 308.45.<sup>8</sup>

1. If a definition of intent is required, see N.C.P.I.-Crim. 120.10.
  2. The parenthetical phrase should be used only where there is some evidence of justification or excuse, such as self-defense.
  3. Use appropriate bracketed statement. In the event that there is a dispute as to which weapon was used and one of the weapons is non-deadly as a matter of law, e.g., a real pistol and a toy pistol, state what would not be a deadly weapon.
  4. Serious injury may be defined as "such physical injury as causes great pain and suffering." See S. v. Jones, 258 N.C. 89 (1962); S. v. Ferguson, 261 N.C. 558 (1964). If there is evidence as to injuries which could not conceivably be considered anything but serious, the trial judge may instruct the jury as follows: "(Describe injury) would be a serious injury." S. v. Johnson, 320 N.C. 746 (1987).
  5. This parenthetical phrase should only be used where the weapon is not deadly per se.
  6. The parenthetical phrase should be used only where there is some evidence of justification or excuse, such as self-defense.
  7. If there is to be instruction on lesser included offenses, the last phrase should be: ". . . you will not return a verdict of guilty of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury, but will consider whether the defendant is guilty of..." See State v. Hannah, 149 N.C. App. 713, 563 S.E.2d 1 (2002) (holding that assault inflicting serious bodily injury pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 14-32.4 is not a lesser-included offense of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury). Presumably, the holding in Hannah would also mean that assault inflicting serious bodily injury is not a lesser-included offense of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury.
  8. Including self-defense in the mandate is required by S. v. Woodsen, 31 N.C. App. 400 (1976). Cf. S. v. Dooley, 285 N.C. 158 (1974).
