

203.31 SIGNAL LIGHTS OTHER THAN AT INTERSECTIONS.

The motor vehicle law provides that: (Select among the following alternatives as applicable)

[(Red light) when a traffic signal erected or installed at a place other than an intersection is emitting a steady red light, a vehicle approaching and facing the red light shall come to a complete stop.<sup>1</sup>]

[(Flashing red light) when a flashing red light has been erected or installed at a place other than an intersection, a vehicle approaching and facing the flashing red light shall stop and yield the right-of-way to pedestrians or other vehicles.<sup>2</sup>]

[(Yellow light) when a traffic signal erected or installed at a place other than an intersection is emitting a steady yellow light, a vehicle approaching and facing the steady yellow light is thereby warned that a red light will be immediately forthcoming and that vehicles may not proceed through that red light.<sup>3</sup>]

[(Flashing yellow light) when a flashing yellow light has been erected or installed at a place other than an intersection, a vehicle approaching and facing the flashing yellow light may proceed with caution, yielding the right-of-way to pedestrians and other vehicles.<sup>4</sup>]

[(Green light) when a traffic signal erected or installed at a place other than an intersection is emitting a steady green light, a vehicle approaching and facing the green light may proceed subject to the rights of pedestrians and other vehicles.<sup>5</sup>]

A violation of [this duty] [one of these duties] is not negligence within itself. However, a violation of [this duty] [one of these duties]
